Now that the children are well grown, Mrs. Sherman is spending more time in Washington during the winters than she has ever done before. She is small and very attractive, with a bright, happy, and ready smile, and the gentle art of knowing how to dress well. Representative and Mrs. Sherman have never maintained a home in Washington, other than an apartment.

Mrs. Bryan, wife of the probable Democratic nominee, and who may become the next mistress of the White House-It all depends upon how the cards fall-is known in Washington by a comparatively small circle. Therefore, she would come almost as a stranger to Washington soclety, which so often has known its leader well in more private life. Mrs. Bryan is a brainy woman, and she is a woman who has won social success. She was in Washington when Mr. Bryan served his State as a Representative in Congress, but she did not at that time go in for society, as her children were all quite young and her duties in the nursery were considered first, those of the drawing-room coming second. Mrs. Bryan has a charmingly frank and gracious manner, and her fine eyes reflect the pleasure she feels in meeting people.

She, as well as Mrs. Taft, will present a daughter to society within the next two years. One of these, either Miss Helen Taft or Miss Grace Bryan, both still in ool, is almost sure to make her first bow to the formal social world in the White House. Miss Taft will return to her studies at Bryn Mawr next fall, and Miss Bryan to hers in Hollins Institute. in Virginia, under any circumstances.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of Gov. John A Johnson, of Minnesota, is less known in Washington than any of the women mentioned. She made almost her first visit here this spring, when she accompanied Gov. Johnson for the governors' council.

late Thomas McCormick, and grandson of Frank McCormick, the original owner of "Frankford," the beautiful country place in Clarke County where he will take his bride. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Jackson Morton, rector of the church. The chancel of the church was a bower of palms, smilax, and Bride roses. The pillars of each aisle were entwined with smilax and white sweet peas. Miss Ramsay had as her only attendant Mrs. Louis Slesman Scott, as matron of honor. Mr. McCormick had as his best man his cousin, Mr. George Washington Lewis, of Clarke County. The ushers were Dr. Lewis M. Allen, of Baltimore; Mr. George Nelms Wise, of Newport News; Mr. Arthur Herbert, and Mr. Dennis Ramsay, of this city. The bride's gown was a creation of white lace made on a foundation of silk and chiffon, with which she wore the usual tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweet peas. The matron of honor wore a white lace princess gown and carried pink sweet peas. Owing to a recent death in the groom's family, there was no reception after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick left immediately for a Northern tour, Mrs. McCormick traveling in a linen suit with brown walking hat.
